ANU Historical Journal II

The ANU Historical Journal II is an open-access peer-reviewed academic journal that welcomes submissions from authors at all career stages. The editors are currently inviting submissions for its fifth issue, scheduled for publication in late 2024. Publishing broadly on historical and history-related topics (including classics, art historical and literary pieces), the ANUHJ II welcomes submissions from undergraduate and postgraduate students, academics, and alumni from all Australian universities.

The ANUHJ II will accept journal articles, essays, and reviews as submissions. For more details about journal submission please see:
