

Open Letter to the Prime Minister: Restoring Equity in Higher Education

We write as individuals with a range of political beliefs whose contributions to Australian life owe significantly to our Bachelor of Arts (BA) degrees. We are deeply concerned that younger Australians today have fewer opportunities than we had to undertake studies in the humanities and social sciences (the core disciplines of a BA). One reason for this contraction of opportunity is the Job-ready Graduates (JRG) Package that the Morrison government introduced in 2021. The Labor caucus at the time criticised the JRG bill for being “inequitable,” “pernicious,” and “perverse.” The inequity of JRG is even more stark when we realise that the humanities and social sciences have traditionally been popular choices for Indigenous, regional, and female students.

A Flawed Policy with Damaging Impact

During the debate over the JRG bill, Labor Senators correctly noted that the peculiar targeting of the humanities and social sciences on the grounds of their graduates not being job-ready was also “wrong”. They noted that these disciplines “offer students robust generalist educations, with strong employment prospects upon completion ... [T]he evidence is that, three years after completion, [arts] graduates are employed at the same rate as science or maths graduates.”

Subsequent research, in Australia and elsewhere, confirms this remains the case. The 2024 Australian Universities Accord Final Report declared that the JRG package had “failed.” It highlighted that many more students now face crushing debts, with fees for most BAs approaching $50,000, and, at the same time, that arts disciplines “critical for future jobs and innovation” are being reduced.

We are profoundly disappointed that the Albanese government has still not acted on its 2021 convictions and repealed JRG. The delay has had cascading and damaging consequences. While overall enrolments suggest continued student interest in the humanities and social sciences, the data is skewed by Group of Eight Universities. Enrolments for many humanities and social science units at other universities—those often favoured by Indigenous, regional and female students—are falling. These universities have, as a result, cut their offerings, made staff redundant, and reduced student choice further. Even Group of Eight universities with stable numbers have interpreted the government’s messaging as a cue to reduce their investment in humanities and social sciences programs.

The Need for Change and the Value of the Humanities and Social Sciences

The need to replace JRG with a fairer and more effective policy could not be more urgent. In an era of severe international turmoil, climate crisis, rising disinformation, and declining trust in democratic principles, a higher education in subjects that stress global knowledges, reasoned debate, and civic literacy is paramount. Graduates of the humanities and social sciences are well placed to address the meaning and source of many of the hatreds and prejudices driving the world today. Their core skill is in critical and analytical thinking. And through their comparative, historical, or philosophical studies, they understand the singular fragility of democracy.

As our nation faces uncertain geopolitical trends, we must also ask ourselves: if younger Australians do not undertake the study of our region, our contexts, our antiquity, our heritage, and our values, who, precisely, will?

The emphasis of the humanities and social sciences on deep understanding and adaptable proficiencies over narrow training always has been, and always will be, their greatest strength. The diverse careers of the undersigned show that studying arts prepares graduates for a remarkable range of professions. Many members of parliament, indeed, hold a BA degree, including Dan Tehan, who introduced the JRG policy, and the current Minister of Education, Jason Clare.

Our Call to Action

We urge you to abolish JRG and to institute a new fee regime which does not punish students who choose to study the humanities and social sciences. Our university sector should instead reflect the values of a society that takes a humane and ethical responsibility for its past and future.

24 July 2025

Signatories:

The Executive Committee of the Australian Historical Association

Louise Adler AM, BA (Hons), MA, MPhil, Publisher and editor, former CEO of Melbourne University Publishing, Director, Adelaide Writers Week

Stephanie Alexander AO, BA, Dip Ed., professional cook, author and founder of the Stephanie Alexander Kitchen Garden Foundation

Dennis Altman AM, FASSA, BA, Doctor of Letters (honoris causa), Author and Patron of the Australian Queer Archives and Pride Foundation Australia

Esther Anatolitis, BA (Hons), Zertifikat Bauhaus Dessau, Editor, Meanjin; Governing Council Member, National Gallery of Australia; Chair, Australian Republic Movement

Georgina Arnott, BA, MA, PhD, Editor of the Australian Book Review

Michelle Arrow, FASSA FRHistS, BA (Hons), PhD, President of the Australian Historical Association

Monica Attard, BA, former ABC foreign correspondent, co-director of the UTS Centre for Media Transitions

Ben Ball, BA, LLB, MPhil, publishing director at Simon & Schuster Australia

Catherine Baron, BA, GradDip, School Principal and President of the History Teachers' Association Australia; winner of the 2021 Dept. of Education Woman of Achievement Award

Amanda Bell AM, BA, PhD, Dip.Ed, FAICD, Non-executive Director, Visual Arts and Education; former School Principal

Frank Bongiorno AM, FRHistS FASSA FAHA, BA (Hons), PhD, President of the Council for the Humanities Arts and Social Sciences.

Bernadette Brennan, BA (Hons), PhD, Prize-winning biographer, academic and critic

Judith Brett AM, BA (Hons), PhD, Prize-winning author of political biography and history

Geraldine Brooks AO, BA (Hons), MS, Pulitzer-prize winning author and journalist, Fellow, Radcliffe Institute for Advanced Studies Harvard

John Byron, FQA, BA (Hons), PhD, veteran policy adviser (higher education, science, and research) and novelist

The Hon. Kim Carr, FAHA, FTSE, BA, MA, former Minister for Higher Education, Innovation, Industry, Science and Research, and former Senator for Victoria

Dame Jane Campion, BA, Academy-Award winning film director

Susan Carland, BA (Hons), BSc, PhD, sociologist, author, and television presenter

Jane Caro AM, BA, novelist, Walkley award winning columnist, social commentator and public education advocate.

Marie Coleman AO, PSM, BA, DUniv (honoris causa), social policy analyst and public servant, feminist activist

Rodney Croome AM, BA, HonDLitt, LGBTQIA+ human rights, 2015 Tasmanian of the Year

Jonathan Dallimore, BA, DipEd, MA, Executive Officer, History Teachers' Association

Joy Damousi AM, FASSA, FAHA, BA (Hons), PhD, former President, Australian Academy of the Humanities; former President of the Australian Historical Association

Kate Darian-Smith, FASSA, BA (Hons), DipEd, PhD, current President of the Academy of the Social Sciences in Australia

Megan Davis AC, FAHA, FASSA, FAAL, BA, LLB, PhD, Co-Chair of the Uluru Dialogue, former Chair of the United Nations Permanent Forum on Indigenous Issues, Sydney Peace Prize Laureate, Commissioner of the NRL, and current Chair of Australian Studies at Harvard University

Graeme Davison AO, FASSA FAHA FRHSV, BA (Hons), PhD, DLitt Honoris Causa, Former President of the Australian Historical Association

Sara Dowse, BA, writer, artist, inaugural head of the Office of Women's Affairs, Department of Prime Minister and Cabinet

John Doyle AM, BA, Dip.Teach, Doctor of Letters (honoris causa), Performer, Screen Writer, Author; Patron and Life Governor of Autism Spectrum Australia

The Hon. Gareth Evans AC, KC, FASSA, FIIA, BA, LLB(Hons), MA, Hon LL.D; former Cabinet Minister, President of the International Crisis Group and several UN committees

Kirstin Ferguson AM, BA (Hons), BLL (Hons), PhD, Author, researcher, and former Acting Chair and Deputy Chair of the Australian Broadcasting Commission

Charles Firth, BA (Hons), co-founder of The Chaser

Tim Flannery, FAA, BA, MSc, PhD, scientist and science communicator, Australian of the Year 2007.

Morag Fraser AM, BA (Hons), MA, DipEd, former editor of Eureka Street; chair of Australian Book Review

Raimond Gaita, FAHA, BA, MA, PhD, Doctor Honoris Causa (Antwerp), philosopher and public intellectual

Bill Gammage AM, FASSA BA (Hons) PhD, Freeman of Narrandera Shire, winner of the PM's Award for Australian history
 Helen Garner, BA (Hons), Writer
 The Hon. Peter Garrett AM, BA, LLB, Doctor of Laws (honoris causa), musician, former federal minister for Environment, School Education
 Stephen Garton AM, FAHA, FASSA, FRAHS, FRSN, BA, PhD, current President of the Australian Academy of Humanities
 Richard Glover, BA (Hons), broadcaster and writer
 Kate Grenville AO, BA (Hons), MA, DCA, prize-winning novelist and author
 Tom Griffiths AO, FAHA, BA (Hons), MA, PhD, Chair of the Editorial Board, Australian Dictionary of Biography
 Ghassan Hage, FAHA, FASSA, FAcSS, BA(Hons), Diplôme de 3ème Cycle, PhD, anthropologist, author and public intellectual Virginia Haussegger AM, BA, journalist, writer, Deputy Chair Public Interest Journalism Initiative, Walkley's judge, Stella Prize Ambassador
 Anita Heiss AM, BA (Hons), PhD, D.Litt, author and Publisher at Large for Bundy Publishing (Simon & Schuster)
 Nathan Hollier, BA, PhD, Manager of ANU Press and Chair of the Small Press Network
 Chloe Hooper, BA, MFA, prize-winning author
 The Hon. Barry Jones AC, FAA, FAHA, FSTE, FASSA, FRSA, Dist, FRSN, FRSV, MA, DLitt, LL.D; former Cabinet Minister, former Representative to UNESCO and to World Heritage Committee
 The Hon. Cheryl Kernot, BA Dip Ed., former Senator & MP; former Leader of the Australian Democrats
 Marilyn Lake AO, FASSA, FAHA, FBA, BA (Hons), DLitt, feminist author and policy advocate; former president of the Australian Historical Association
 Nam Le, BA (Hons), LLB (Hons), MFA, poet
 Foong Ling Kong, BA (Hons), CEO and Publisher of Melbourne University Publishing
 Iain McCalman AO, FRHistS FASSA FAHA, BA (Hons), MA, PhD, former president of the Australian Academy of the Humanities
 Hugh Mackay AO, BA, MA, Hon DLitt, FAPS, Social psychologist, researcher and author
 Peter McPhee AM FASSA, BA, PhD, Chair, History Council of Victoria; Patron, History Teachers' Association of Victoria
 Shireen Morris, BA, PhD, Associate Professor of constitutional law, author
 The Hon. Barry O'Farrell AO, formerly Premier of New South Wales and Australian High Commissioner to India; Chair of Wests Tigers RLFC
 Brigitta Olubas, FAHA, BA(Hons), MA(Hons), PhD, prize-winning biographer
 Philip Pettit AC, FSSA, FAHA, FAAAS, FBA, MRJA, BA, LPh, PhD (plus 6 honorary doctorates), philosopher
 Greig Pickhaver, BA, comedian, actor, writer
 Jenna Price, BA, MA, PhD, journalist and columnist
 Elizabeth Reid AO, FASSA, AIIA, BPhil, BA (Hons), advisor to Gough Whitlam, international civil servant, feminist and writer
 Amy Remekis, BA, journalist and Chief Political Analyst, Australia Institute
 Henry Reynolds, BA, MA, D.Litt, FAHA, FASSA, historian and activist, former Tasmanian Australian of the Year
 The Hon. Margaret Reynolds AC, BA, Diploma of Special Education, former ALP Senator for Queensland, former minister in the Hawke government

David Ritter, BA (hons), LLB (hons), MA (dist.), Chief Executive Officer, Greenpeace Australia Pacific

Peter Rose, BA, Writer and former Editor of the Australian Book Review

Lynette Russell AM, BA(Hons), PhD, FRGS, FRAI, FRHistS, FASSA, FAHA, IHF. Am. Ac. Arts & Sciences, distinguished Indigenous historian; past president of the Australian Historical Association

Ben Saul, BA (Hons), LLB (Hons), DPhil, FASSA FAAL, United Nations Special Rapporteur on Human Rights and Counter-terrorism

Angela Savage, BA (Hons), PhD, author and Chief Executive Officer of Public Libraries Victoria

Julianne Schultz AM, FAHA, BA, PhD, author and founding editor of The Griffith Review

Andrew Scott, BA (Hons), PhD, inaugural convenor of the Nordic Policy Centre, Australia Institute

Emma Shortis, BA, PhD, Director of International & Security Affairs Program, Australia Institute

Jessie Stephens, BA, MPhil, executive editor of Mamamia

Lachlan Strahan, BA, PhD, historian and former Australian ambassador to the Solomon Islands

Anne Summers AO, BA (Hons), PhD, feminist writer, editor, and former political adviser to the Hawke and Keating governments

Peter Tesch, BA (Hons), DLitt (honoris causa); former ambassador to Russia & to Germany; former Deputy Permanent Representative to the UN; former Dep. Sec. at Dept. of Defence

Graeme Turner AO, FAHA, QCA, BA (Hons), MA, PhD, former president of the Australian Academy of the Humanities

Julienne van Loon, BA(Hons), MA, PhD, novelist and essayist

Steve Vizard, FAICD, LLB, PhD, LLD (Honoris Causa), Barrister and Solicitor Supreme Court of Victoria; former President of National Gallery of Victoria & Screen Producers Australia

Don Watson, BA, PhD, author and former political adviser and speechwriter

The Hon. Andrew Wilkie, BA, Federal Independent Member of Parliament for Clark

Tim Winton AO, BA, Grad Dip, FAHA, four times winner of the Miles Franklin prize, Booker-shortlisted novelist

Charlotte Wood AM, BA, MCA, PhD, Stella Prize winner, Booker-shortlisted author of ten books

Clare Wright OAM, BA (Hons), MA, PhD; Chair, National Museum of Australia; Stella Prize winner; Co-author Vision Statement, Revive, National Cultural Policy